

Daily Agenda

Today's Tasks

- Daily check-in/Fun fact
- Review learning target
- Warm-up
- Poetry Stations
- Exit ticket

Which dog are you today?

1

2

3

4

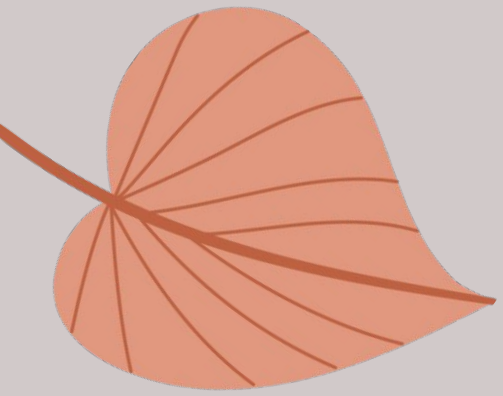

Fun Fact of the Day

Sea otters hold paws when they sleep so they don't drift apart.

Learning Target

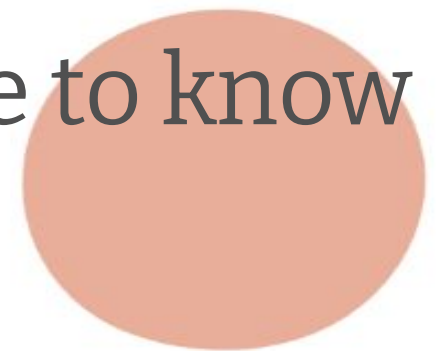

Today I will be able to analyze and discuss poems to examine how authors use literary devices to express their perspectives on justice, identity, and social issues.

Warm-Up

For the next 3 minutes, write continuously about justice, identity, and evolving as a person. This can be a personal connection, information you know about these topics, or something you would like to know about these topics.

Station 1- “The Hill We Climb” by Amanda Gorman

1.

1. Read the poem “The Hill We Climb” by Amanda Gorman and watch the video of the author reading her speech at the 2021 presidential inauguration using headphones

WATCH: Amanda Gorman reads inauguration poem, 'The Hill We Climb'

2.

Write the problem here and elaborate on it.

3.

Write the problem here and elaborate on it.

Station 1 Questions

What is the author's message?
Highlight/underline and label 2 examples of alliteration
Highlight/underline and label 2 examples of repetition
How does the author's use of repetition and alliteration stress that part of the text?
What is the "hill we climb"? How does it relate to justice?

Station 2 - “What Was I Made For” by Billie Eilish

1.

Read the poem and listen to the music video using headphones
Billie Eilish - What Was I Made For? \(Official Music Video\)

2.

Re-read and annotate the poem

3.

Answer the questions at the end of the document using the text

Station 2 Questions

What is the author's message?

Select at least 2 emojis to identify the mood of the song and explain in a complete sentence why you chose each one.

How does the music video complement your analysis of the lyrics?

How does it differ?

How is identity seen in this poem?

Food for thought: How does this message relate to your own life?

(You do not have to write an answer down if you don't want to.)

Station 3 - “What Now?” by Gary Soto

- | | |
|----|--|
| 1. | Read the poem “What Now” by Gary Soto
https://poets.org/poem/what-now |
| 2. | Re-read and annotate the poem |
| 3. | Answer the questions at the end of the document using the text |

Station 3 Questions

What is the author's message?

What did the author mean by
“And by my teens I no longer looked upward”?

. What is the tone of this poem?

How does this poem relate to maturing? Provide an example.

Exit Ticket

Answer the following questions in complete sentences.

1. What does “The Hill We Climb” by Amanda Gorman say about justice?
2. What does the song “What Was I Made For” by Billie Eilish say about identity?
3. What does the poem “What Now?” by Gary Soto say about personal evolution/maturing?

